Adding a Twitter Follow Button

The Follow button is a small button displayed on your websites to help users easily follow a Twitter account. There are a couple of ways to create a Twitter Follow button. First, you can open a Twitter Profile in a new window, then drag the URL onto your PageCloud page. Second, you can copy the Twitter Profile URL to the clipboard, and paste it directly on your page. PageCloud will automatically create the Follow button for you. If you are using the copy/paste method, remember to de-select all screen objects first, by pressing Escape, before you paste. In most browsers, you can drag a URL over another browser tab, hold for a moment, and when the tab becomes active you can drop the URL onto your page.
